About Me

Netherlands based creative - From an early age i discovered the magic of a pencil. My dad taught me the beauty of illustration and creative freedom. He was an Art-director and injected the creative virus in my brother and me. As young kids we watched star wars and heard lord of the ring stories. I try to tell small stories and inject the power of fantasy in my drawings and hope that the audience can experience a drift into a other dimension. Always positive and full with energy. In my off-time i enjoy life with my wife and 2 kids. When the weather and time allows it, you can find me driving my Harley through the hills of Limburg and the Eifel in Germany.

In my spare time i love to freelance and work on my personal projects to build a stronger showcase.
